CODES & STANDARDS

Throughout the U.S., many regions are experiencing changing water conditions. In California, in response to the state's historic drought, the California Energy Commission (CEC) approved, stricter requirements for showerheads, lavatory faucets and kitchen faucets.

As one of the recognized leaders in water-savings technologies, GROHE is proud to offer a full-line of showerheads, faucets and toilets that significantly reduce your water consumption while providing an enjoyable and revitalizing experience.

The product list is updated at date of printing, April 1, 2021. While it is not a complete reference to every municipal or state regulation, we provide accurate flow rate and model information with compliance to major regulations.

With frequent code and standard changes alongside new product introductions, information on our compliant GROHE product models is dynamic. Please check our website for updated information and contact your GROHE representative with questions.
